Washington, Aug 12.—Lioutenant Wood of the United States may, who has been for some time in China and the Orient makes some rather damaging statements concerning America mis sionartes in China and Corea. In general, he is bitcely outcomes to missionaries stongies in China and Corea. In general, he is bitterity opposed to missionaries the say, that the work of the missionaries in China and Corea has been absolutely without any result, except to held them up to the ridicule of the natives. It has before been stated and I concur in the belief that there is not a Chinese convert to Chrustianity of sound mind to-day within the entire extent of China. The converts we hear of in this country are morely nomicial employed about the quarters of the missionaries, who for a salary of $4 per month become converts, but when they are discharged where is no further evidence of their change of mind. The missionaries do not mix with the natives to any considerable extent, and many of their meetings are not only conducted in English, but with themselves an and lences. San Francisco Aug 12.—The cases of the people against the Central Pacific, Southern Pacific and other railroads involving the state and county texes assessed against them for the year 1835 were argued to day before the supremerour.

1836 were argued to day before the supreme court.

The cases are on appeas from the decision of Judge Levy sustaining the defendant's domurrer to the form of the complaint prescribed in the penal code. The judge held that the laws passed by the legislature including the form of complaint in respect to the taxation of these defendants and their property were unconstitutional. Atterney-General Johnson for the people, argued that article 18 of the constitution, conferred full powers on the legislature to complete the system of revenue and taxation provided and that ideving this article out of question the laws passed by the legislature in respect to the taxation of these rounds, were in means local or special as was held by Judge Levy. The cases were submitted for a decision.

Atlants Constitution

A correspondent of a New York paper asks where he can obtain George Lippard s works He has looked far and wide, and has failed to flud them. And yet only yesterday, so to speak, George Lippard was famous. In the last generation he was one of the most popular American novelists. He wrote book after book, and everybody read them and eagerly cailed for more. Of all the sensational and luid story writery that this country has produced he was easily the first. His imagination was boundless and rotous. His style was blood curding.

Lappard leaped into the noonday blaze of notornety at once and became as popular in his day as Rider Haggard is in ours. He was no penny a liner from the slume no dime novelist no back writer for the blood and thunder weeklies. He was a master of the mysteries of sensational story telling, and he wrote good English. Daniel Webster was certainly a man of good literary judgment. If he could find Lippard's romances inscin sing, it is fair to suppose they had merit. The great statesman was an enthuslastic ad nuirer of the novelist. He pronounced him a man of genius, and predicted enduring fame for his works.

But where are those once popular novels to day and who knows anything shout their author? Even in New York, a city full of book stores, one has to appeal to the newspapers to answer the queention. Just what inappened to Lippard will befall many a man who is now working like a slave to win fame and fortund. To-day a man s name is ringing through the land to morrow it is indicated in the morrow we will write to the newspapers to answer the queention. Just what inappened to Lippard will befall many a man who is now working like a slave to win fame and fortund. To-day a man s name is ringing through the land to morrow it is many will be remembered by a two and day after to morrow men will write to the newspapers to answer the queention.

Mr Maurice Thoma son sloutly condemns the American tendency to dislojally to our country in the matter of arts and letters. In a word 'he says we are not renulinely American Even in our common schools we are taught a supreme deterence in the presence of alien masters. Out liberal freedom has made us too familiar with our selves and we have falled to maintain a proper self respect. A man must have a German name b force we will listen to his science a picture must be imported to insure respectful consideration a book must be written abroad and have Mr Gladstone's notice before we will read it. This manner of public bias cannot be called toyalty, no maiter how many guns we fire on the 4th of July."

. SINGLE TAX REQUIRETS. Parther Discussion of the Henry George Theory

of Land Taxation. EAST PORTLAND, Or., Aug 12, 1889

To the Entrar of The Original The friends of the single tax have been rankly accused by their opponents of leaning towards communism and even anarchy. In the same puragraph the single tax has been the same varagraph the single tax has been assailed (in your columns) as tending to government paternalism and as stracking the American system of protection. In the name of common sense let us ask what severs more of government paternalism than the present tariff system, whose great claim is that it throws the protecting arm of government around so many forms of industry? And we assert and can maintain that single are advocated for the truest friends of indi-And we assert and can maintain that slight tax advocates are the truest friends of individual freedom—the opening to all of access to natural opportunities which are now monopolited by the few. The fact being that socialism anarchy, etc. are merely outgrowths of dissatisfaction with the present condition of affairs, and represent menely the mistaken views of cortain housest advocates of reform, desperately anxious to better the condition of the laboring classes, and seeing no other way than a general and equal division of accumulated wealth (assumed to be produced by the labors of althusing their views, perhaps, on the principle that "property is robbery."

Single-tax men do not propose any division of personal property, which we may assume to have been nonestly acquired by the individual, but land values considered apart from improvements, natural opportunities, such as indices, water-fronts, water-powers etc., can by no process of logic be demonstrated to be the production of individual effort and the rontal value these acquire from demand crested by the needs of society, should of right belong to the communities creating such value. All the state of Oregon, we may say, is tributary to Fortland and contributes to the great value of the great value of tax advocates are the truest friends of indi-quire from demand created by the needs of scorety, should of right belong to the communities creating such value. All the state of Oregon, we may say, is tributary to Portland and contributes to the great value of its ground rents, hence a certain share of these rents should contribute to the needs of state government. All the United States adds value more or less to the enormous ground rents of New York city, and thus in the same way should a draft be made on these for the support of federal government. There is no other system of taxation known to which the principle of "give and take" more justly applies than to the land value tax, being in wonderful contrast to the present system of absurd inequalities.

We have been accused of a desire to rob the mechanic of the sayings of lwenty years invested in the cuty lot, etc., etc., but the mechanic in thus investing his sayings is evidently inbued with a speculative spirit,—the desire to reap a profit from the labors of the community at large. And who pray, thinks of reimbursing the mechanic if the town collapses and society's efforts are transferred elsewhere,—instance Kalana, Ainsworth, etc.? If the city of Johnstown Fs., had not been rebuilt, the owners of lots there would hardly have expected the state to reimburse them for disappeared land yalues. And if the single tax should remove the speculative value of the mechanic's city lot, he would still have an equal chance with others to pay the rental tax and build ourle, and if too valuable for readence purposes, the mechanic could find plently of other land on which to build at a maller rental tax, and the land which he had prevented enterprise from using by demanding in extortionate price, would for he use of natural opportunities, prices or rents which enterprise is unable to pay and at the same time yield captal and labor their just returns. How often has the press of Portland, Salem, etc., lashed the backs of hoggish landowners.

As Emperor a Coulness—
Berlin Letter

Emperor William who is naturally of an excitable and nervous temperament never loves an opportunity of schooling himself to prevent any display of feeling. A few nights ago he gave a most astonishing exhibition of absolute solf-control and even cold-bloodedness. During the state performance at the Roval Opera in homor of the marriage of the empress a saster to Prince Frederick Loopold the dress of the premiere danssuse caught fire from the gas jet in the wings, and in a moment she was wrapped from head to foot in a sheet of filmes. With great presence of mind the principal basso who was standing noar by draped in Roman togs and waiting to 'go on," dashed her to the ground and tearing the togs from his shoulders enveloped her in its rapacious folds thereby extinguishing the flames—bhe was however, so badly burned that during three days her life was despared of, and as it is the poor girl will be disfigured for life. Major Powell's idea is to store the flood waters of the streams in reservoirs, and then distribute them over the arid levels of the United States, which comprise two-fifths of United States, which comprise two-lifths of its area. This systematic storage of water in the region of the upper Missouri he not only expects would reclaim a vast area, but by duminishing the floods in the lower Misshippl, would prevent the hundation of the low lands of the Eouth. There is nothing new in this scheme of Major Powell, for the greatest nations of antiquity easily practiced hydraulic engineering in order to store the flood waters for purposes of irrigation Egypt, Carthage and India are lail of ruins of ancient hydraulic works used to make their deserts blossom like the rose Civilisa tion began in and lands, so that the necessifies of the sitution made hydraulic engineering the oldest scientific art, and modern ng the oldest scientific art, and m genius has added little in this direction of in-The storage of highland waters is demanded and district Major Powell says

In the region of country where land is more shundant than water the value inheres in the water, not in the land Land like air, is found in greater quantities than can be used water is be necessity, and ralue is given to the land by he water right which it carries; if the water sight is dissevered, the land is valueless. These are not unfavorable conditions for agriculture lowever. The farmer's industry is more attractive and more profitable in an and then a hunding and hin aid lands, and the best agriculture of he world to-day in earnied on by means of art region All of the early civilization of the world lands, and the best agriculture of the world to-day is carried on by means of artificial irrigation. The seeming-devert plains of the arid region of the West are in fact abundantly rich when watered artificially. The genile storms of a hussid region fructly he land but its fumpests drown vegetation. In moh regions the planting season is now too dry manow too wot, and many a prospectively rich harvest has been destroyed by a harvest fitte storm. Agriculture in arid lands is not subject to these violatitudes. The monutains catch the floods, while the valleys are fertilized by the hand of man, whit turns the waters upon them at his will. At the day and hour he pleases he spreads the water upon his garden, his vineyerd, or his field in quantities governed by his judgment. When harvest time comes, he ream his field with a mind free from the fearof storms. Ultimately one of the great agricultural regions of this one of the great agricu tural regions of this country will be found in the irrigated plains and falleys of the West Sage break plains, sand by gardens fields and groves all perennially py girden househad of mountain lakes.

The art of dam construction is an easy problem for any intelligent engineer to solve by topographic and hydrographic surveys. On this point Major Powell says.

The precipitation in rain and snow over the basin must be determined as an average from year to year and also the maximum protor tation at the times of great food. This must be supplemented by the gauging of streams to determine their average volume and maximum volumes. All of these factors are necessary and preliminary to the construction of a safe and efficient reservoir system by making mountain lakes. Before a reservoir dam is constructed it is of prime importance to their miline what will be required of it. These facts ascertained, the engineer can castly plan works adequate to entrol the forces involved he can roadily deternative how much water he can store and what wasteway will be necessary to discharge the surplus. necessary to discharge the surplus

Major Powell says that disnaters like Conemanch are impossible with earth dams, where waste ways are provided adedams, where waste ways are provided adequate to meet all emergencies. The rules for the construction of such dems have been known for centuries. The engineer his only to determine precisely the duty of the dam. On this point Major Powell sand that the conditions which a dam must meet or burst as at Conemangh can "be determined only by a topographic survey, which gives the area of the drainings bean and its grade curvers. To this must be added a by gives the area of the drainings beam and its grade curves. To this must be added a by drographic survey, which may have to extend over some years. It is not necessary that this survey in all its parts should be over each basin where a reservoir is to be constructed. The average and max mum rate of precipitation may be determined for large receipts and may be determined for large regions and the general facts used for large regions and the general facts used for the several cases always allowing a margin for safet. But the topographic survey and the stream gauging are essential to each in dividual bash. At the Bismarck session on the 10th Inst of the United States sentle irrigation com-mittee, Major Powell advised the tank sys-tem of irrigation in Bakoti i pond on every farm, where p actical te that will catch storm water and store the water until needed. He says that a twenty acre tank filled with He says that a twenty acre tank filled with He says that a twenty acre tank filled with water to a depth of ten feet will irrigate 300 acres of land and increase the ville of the land from 300 to 400 percent. If we irrigate we would never need any other ferthizer and we nilght crop the land without rotation for 2007 years. Water in this case is a fertilizer, and land can never be exhausted where irrigation is practiced.

This subjected irrigation of and lands is one of great interest to Oregon, not because she has any large region of and lands com pared with Dakots or California, but as a practical means of making the farmer indo-pendent of the chance whether the rain fell in timely showers or no. The tank system in Oragon would be ample to protect the far-

The democrats are beginning to cry fraud already regarding the census taking for 1890 This arises from the fact that Robert P Porter at the head of that department is an ardent protectionist. We strongly sus pect that it will need no fraud to show that Two gentlemen of Los Angeles have been

Who has fine Hair, and desires to preserve its color, abundance, and lustro, should use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean and cool, and is by far the most exquisite toilet preparation in the market.

B. M. Johnson, M. D., Thomas Hill, Mo., says: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor in my family for a number of years, and regard it as the best hair preparation I know of. It keeps the acalp clean, the hair soft and lively, and preserves the original color. My wife has used it for a long time with most satisfactory results."

Mrs. S. A. Rock, of Anderson, Texas, writes: "At the age of 34, in Morroe, La., I had a severe attack of swamp, or malarial, fever. After I got well my hair commenced coming out, and so continued until it had well nigh all gone. I used several kinds of hair restorers, but they did no good. A friend gave me a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. Before finishing the first bottle my hair began to grow, and by the time I used three bottles, I had a fine head of hair."

Evans and Hoey, in "A Parlor Match," opened their season at the New Park last night. Talk about fun and daughter! Well, the latter fairly floated in it. Eyeryone has doubtless read of the great success of this immiest of all favoe consedies as played by those Stevis comedians, but the openionity for Portionizers us employ their work came for the fart time last night, and it is but expressing threely to say that they were antoxed overy moment of the two bours and a half that the player tasted

There is a humar about his very legs that is infectious, and from the very moment he appears the hope. Is in rosm of laughter like avery movement is mirth provoking. It was considerable of a step from the role of Simority Weeks to that of Lady Isabel in East Lynne, which that conscientious young actress, Easte Tittidit, took last night, and considering the great demands of the latter role she is entitled to credit for the effort she made, it requires years of close study, coupled with the training of experience, to make a fine can though actress, and from Miss Tittelfa admirable reindition of Lady Isabel last evening it is easily seen that under produce conditions her talents will develop into substitute the remaining of which she may be proud. The part of Arianisal Codyle was assured by Mr. 8. Philice a new addition to the company and it was a fair rendition George R. Crine made a good Sir Francis Lovison, enrying out the intent of the part exceedingly well.

The remainder of the cast was fair. The central attraction of the Musee, Mme Rosa the bearded lady is tudeed a curtosity and was egganty looked at by the large audience which finds the house.
